SUMMARY

I have two passions: optimising how a business runs, and high performance sport. I have built a career across both, always in lean teams where efficiency and data drive the result.

I run several things at once. Today that is sports science at the Penrith Panthers, my creative agency Subject:RAW, and operations consulting for a UK sunglasses brand. Earlier I scaled a sports-performance business from one site to three and past $1M in revenue through to acquisition. I love small business, and I build the agentic workflows, dashboards and tools that help small teams move faster.

Australia's leading US-college basketball pathway; acquired in 2026.

- Founded and scaled the performance program from one site to three facilities, training 450+ athletes and reaching over $1M in annual revenue through to acquisition in 2026.
- Led the expansion myself: scouted sites, negotiated leases, and sourced contractors for fitouts and development-application filing, then built the processes and cross-site reporting that let one team run three locations consistently.
- Led a 30-strong local team of coaches, physiotherapists and facility staff, plus a larger offshore team in sales, customer support and admin that I hired, trained and managed across time zones.
- Designed the program product and lead-generation funnels, and the customer and staff onboarding journeys that got new athletes and new hires productive faster.
- Reported to the founder on P&L, staff performance and direction.
